God' Solution to Save the World

"All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth. Go therefore and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age." Amen. (Matt. 28:18-20)

Not Just Another Day At Chimala

One of the requests made to the different department heads is for updated reports of newsworthy events and stories at the mission. In a recent correspondence with CMPS head-teacher Venance Mwanjelile, he added a remark in-passing that they had 30 baptisms. That is the news! After getting more details from Nathan, I learned that this event who were baptized. A list of the students' names was sent by Venance in a separate document. These children come from different homes, villages, and religious backgrounds. But now they are our young brothers and sisters in Christ!

As the stateside coordinator for the mission, I work hard to know what is occurred on the same day—July 31st as a result of daily Bible teaching in class.

happening at the mission. I don't normally like surprises; but in the case of 30 new Christians, I will gladly make an exception.

Giving Away Goodness

There is no way to fully grasp the of amount of painstaking work that is and has been done for the Chimala Mission. The reason so many people and churches have supported Chimala for so many years is because of this very thing: years of prayers, giving, toil and tears for something good. For this reason—and many more—I encourage people to come see Chimala Mission for yourself.

Here you will witness Christians living, working, worshipping and making the best out of a broken and imperfect world. They are not perfect—neither are we—and they quickly acknowledge that. But as a whole, the Chimala Mission is a living, thriving force of God for good to the community. And this good work comes with a price. As stated above, a lot of energy and commitment translates into the fruit of good works and salvation of souls. A constant effort is made to utilize every material and monetary gift for good.

But none of this world be possible without the reliable and prayerful giving of God's people. The mission's past and present giving cannot replace it's current need for future donors. Become a force -multiplier to help those who will never be able to repay you. God will take care of that. We just need you to take your place at the Chimala Mission table and be blessed.

It takes hard work to unload. And it takes hard thinking to organize.

Container Has Arrived

Just one day short of four months, our 40-foot shipping container finally reached its Chimala Mission destination! Looking over the file folder containing all the paperwork required for this container, I counted no less than 37 documents.

I know from assisting with a few earlier containers to Tanzania, it is a huge undertaking and a great accomplishment (and sigh of relief!) when a container is prepared, shipped and finally arrives at its destination. A great deal of thanks is given to all of you who donated items and funds, helped transport and load, and who prayed and encouraged us for this day to arrive. And mostly, we praise God!

Work and Excitement Abound

The area known as the “shop” buzzes with activity when a shipping container finally arrives at Chimala. All available estate workers, CSOP students, missionaries, and hospital employees are called to assist in the unloading. Eden and Emmy patiently wait for the “missionary stuff”.

All unloading is done by hand without the assistance of a forklift, pallet jack, or any other device. These guys are incredible using teamwork, ingenuity, creativity and common sense to overcome whatever challenge faces them. Expensive items such as hospital equipment are often placed inside crates for protection during shipping.

Legacy From Waurika, OK

No one leaves this world without making some kind of impression—good or bad. Naturally we all hope to leave a good impression. This is true in many ways. Below, for example, is a building many of you reading this newsletter may recognize. It's a large duplex commonly called the "guesthouse". Usually larger groups of visitors stay here because of its many bedrooms and bathrooms. The official name is the "Waurika Building", which I mistakenly thought was a Swahili name. A few weeks ago, however, I learned better. Actually funds were donated from Christians from Waurika, OK, a congregation I recently visited, to construct this building. They were a wonderful group of Christians who have been regular supporters of Chimala for many years. Truly "their works do follow them" (Rev. 14:13).
